From the Paris Gazette, dated August 18.

Madrid, July 31.

WE are inform'd by Letters from Tortosa of the 26th of this Month, that the 200 Horse which conducted the Garrison, were return'd; and that when they parted, the Garrison consisted but of 800 Men. Several Advices from Barcelona say the Archduke had caus'd the Rents and Cash of private Persons to be seiz'd, assuring them that at the Arrival of the Fleet of the Allies he should have wherewithal to satisfy them; which had occasion'd great Discontent.

Lerida, Aug. 1. The Duke of Orleans arriv'd here the 30th of last Month, with the whole Army, which he caus'd to encamp along the Segro; to refresh the Troops which were very much fatigu'd by a March of 12 Days over very rough Mountains, where they were sometimes oblig'd to file one by one, in excessive Heats. The Enemy have receiv'd the Succours they long expected from Italy, amounting only to about 4000 Men. His Royal Highness, pursuant to an Order he has receiv'd from France, is making a Detachment of 10 Squadrons and 7 Battallions, to march to Provence. The next Night the Army will march to take Quarters of Refreshment some Days in the Plain of Urgel, and then advance further into Catalonia.

The King of France's Letter to the Cardinal de Noailles Archbishop of Paris, ordering Te Deum to be Sung for the taking of Tortosa, was in the following Terms.

Confin,

I have receiv'd Advice that my Nephew the Duke of Orleans has made himself Master of Tortosa; the taking of which is of the more Importance, because it deprives the Enemy of all Communication with the Kingdom of Valencia, and shuts them up in a very narrow Compass of Country about Barcelona. My Nephew, having surmounted many Obstacles which seem'd sufficient to hinder the Execution of this Enterprize, caus'd the Place to be invested the 20th of June, tho' it was defended by a numerous Garrison. The Count d'Effren who commanded in it, was oblig'd to surrender the City and Castles 18 Days after the Opening of the Trenches. This happy Success, which is owing to the Valour of my Troops and those of my Grandson the King of Spain, is yet more owing to the prudent Conduct Care and Vigilance of the Duke of Orleans; and 'tis to return Thanks to God for it that I write you this Letter, my Intention being that you cause Te Deum to be Sung &c.

The Resolution of the three Colleges of the Sacred Roman Empire, for establishing the Electorate of Hanover.

THE Imperial Commissorial Declaration communicated to the Diet the 21st of July 1706, concerning the Electorate of Brunswick Lunenburg, having been propos'd to the Deliberation of the three Colleges of the Empire; upon mature Consideration suitable to the Importance of the Affair, it was concluded and resolv'd; That whereas the most antient and illustrious House of Brunswick-Lunenburg of the Line of Hanover, have by their great Services merited the Esteem and Affection both of his Imperial Majesty and of the sacred Roman Empire; therefore out of special Regard as well to the Reasons and Motives mention'd in the said Imperial Declaration, as to others, the Electoral Dignity which by his late Imperial Majesty Leopold was granted to the Eldest Male Issue of that House, is confirm'd. At the same time 'tis also agreed and establish'd, that if by divine Permission the Succession of the Palatine House, upon the Extinction both of the Rudolphin and Wilhelmin Roman Catholick Lines, should descend to a Lutheran, and the above-mention'd Line of Hanover should continue, then (salvo de cetero in Electoralibus & Domo Palatina Jure Succedendi) a supernumerary Vote shall be allow'd to the Roman Catholick Electors, and is hereby actually allow'd by the Empire in the best Manner and Right whatever, to be given by the presiding Roman Catholick Elector (prævia tamen Legitimatione solita) in all Diets, Elections, Deputations, and Assemblies whatsoever, according to the Opinion which the Roman Catholick Electors shall agree upon among themselves. But, if the Male Line of the House of Hanover shall be extinguish'd before the Rudolphin or Wilhelmin Lines of the Palatine House; or if, in further Course of Time, either the Palatine Electorate should devolve on a Roman Catholick agen, or the Line of Hanover should fail; then, in either of these Cases, the supernumerary Vote allow'd as is abovesaid to the Roman Catholick Electors, shall cease. Lastly, The Electorate of Hanover shall be oblig'd to answer its Contingent (pro quantum matriculari) to all publick Taxes and Charges to be furnish'd by the Empire and the Circles; and pay annually into the Chamber 300 Florins.

And whereas his Imperial Majesty has graciously declar'd, that for the greater Splendor of the Electoral College and Good of the sacred Roman Empire, he is willing the Session and Vote which he has in the Electoral College as King and Elector of Bohemia, should be supplied, in all ordinary and extraordinary Assemblies, Diets, and Deputations; it is further concluded, that it shall be left to his Imperial Majesty's Pleasure whether and when (by Virtue of his indisputable Right as King of Bohemia) he will send any Deputy to take his said Seat and Vote, and to deliberate in the Electoral College. His Imperial Majesty is to answer at least his Contingent as an Elector, to the publick Taxes and Charges of the Empire, and the Circles; and pay 300 Florins yearly into the Chamber. His Imperial Majesty is also to lay no Claim or Pretention to the least Precedency for himself or his Bohemian Deputy, in any Diet, Deputation, or Assembly, or at any Treaty of Peace or the like Convention; but to keep, give, and receive, the same Treatment, Rank, and Ceremonies, as any other Deputy or Envoy from any other Elector. And his Imperial Majesty at his Admission into the Electoral College, is to deliver into the Hands of the Elector of Mentz, a Promise under his own Hand and Seal, that his Imperial Majesty as King of Bohemia, will never meddle in the Affairs of the Offices of Chancellor of the Empire and Director of the Diet, to the Prejudice of his Electoral Highness and his Successors to the Electorate and Archbishoprick of Mentz. Whereupon the whole Empire have concluded and faithfully promis'd, to protect his Imperial Majesty's Crown and Kingdom of Bohemia, with all the Dependencies of the same, on all Occasions against all unjust Pretensions or Attempts, according to the Tenour of the several Orders and Constitutions of the Empire. Done at Ratisbon the 30th of June 1708.

London;

London, August 18.

Last Night came in a Mail from Holland. The Letters advise, that the Trenches were open'd against Lille the 21st at Night; And that the Duke of Marlborough has pass'd the Schelde, and is encamp'd with his Left near Amogies and his Right at Pottes, to oppose any Attempt the Enemy might offer to make in Brabant: The Duke of Burgundy and the Duke of Berwick continue yet in their former Camps.

A Rhinoceros about 20 Years since was brought from Siam in India, which in Strength and Colour is like the Elephant, upon his Nose groweth a large and sharp Horn, on its back are many Divisions like the Shells of a Tortoise, its Skin is so extreme hard no Dart can pierce it, each Foot hath 3 Hoofs. In a word, ship admirable Creature, from the Tip of its Nose to the End of its Tail, differs from all other Beasts, except only in Eyes and Ears. To be seen with its Skelleton near the Falcon on the Road to Hide-Park, turning down to May-Fair.
